London Paper Says Diplomats Located at Last

Secret Service Finds Pair After Three-Month Search

LONDON, Aug. 30 (Thursday) (AP)—The Daily Herald reported today the Foreign Office has learned the whereabouts of two missing British diplomats, Donald MacLean and Guy Burgess.

Yawl Safe

HALIFAX, Aug. 29 (CP)—Search for the 20-foot British yawl Nova Esper was halted tonight when it was confirmed that the craft put in at a small Nova Scotia port last Saturday for supplies.

R.C.M.P. officers said the vessel, sailed by Stanley Smith and Charles Violet, called at East Baccaro after being becalmed.

Loses Appeal On Annulment

SINGAPORE, Aug. 30 (Thursday) (Reuters)—The chief justice of Malaya today dismissed the appeal of Mansoor Adabi, 23-year-old Malay schoolteacher, against the High Court's annulment of his Moslem marriage to 13-year-old "jungle girl" Barbara Hertog.

When the High Court's annulment decision was announced last December, 17 persons were killed and 200 injured in riots.

Fire Forces Evacuation Of Logging Community

VANCOUVER, Aug. 29 (CP)—Women and children were evacuated today from a logging settlement at the mouth of the Britain River as a forest fire advanced on the community of 150 persons.

The settlement is on Jervis Inlet, about 60 miles up-coast from Vancouver.

Some 30 women and children were removed by boat to another camp while the men stayed behind to fight the onrushing flames.

The fire, started by lightning, has burned 13,000,000 feet of felled timber and destroyed 13 pieces of logging machinery. It covers an area of about seven miles long and three miles wide.

The evacuation was the second this week from fires raging through British Columbia forests.

Monday night, 71 persons fled by boat from Forward Bay on Crocrot Island 150 miles northwest of here. One man was killed by a falling tree.

More than 20,000 gallons of oil and gasoline exploded in the hamlet after the evacuees poled out into windswept Johnstone Strait in an old scow.

Fishing boats picked them up

The paper said secret service agents have located the pair after a three-month search of Western Europe, but did not say where.

Mrs. Melinda MacLean, wife of one, has been vacationing on the French Riviera with her three children and has received a message from her husband, The Herald said.

The report appeared only in The Herald.

The paper, which has close government connections, said the Foreign Office probably would make no announcement until next week.

OFFICIALS SILENT

No one at the Foreign Office early today would comment on The Herald story.

MacLean, 38, left his job in London May 25, a Friday evening. Due for a long week-end, he had three days to cover his tracks before his disappearance was discovered.

Burgess, 40, was on leave at the time, his future in doubt because of his recall from his job with the British embassy in Washington.

Then it was found that the two men had landed at St. Malo, France, without baggage and had hired a car that took them to Rennes, France.

Three telegrams were dispatched to their families from Paris and Rome, but the originals were not in MacLean's or Burgess' handwriting.

Hundreds of British and European detectives searched for the two men, but nothing was found to give any hint of their whereabouts.

Gunners Nearing End of Summer Training

Almost daily throughout the summer off Albert Head. Combined reserve and active gunners are ready to man gun sites that ring Victoria at a few hours notice.

Summer camp is nearly over for men of the 75th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment, but it has been time well spent. Plain good food was one of the things the men thrived on. Shown admiring steak at

Victoria Now Nearly Encircled By Anti-Aircraft Emplacements

By TREVOR COLLINS

Army engineers have nearly completed a ring of anti-aircraft gun emplacements around Victoria.

These locations will be manned by members of the 75th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment, commanded by Lieut.-Col. W. J. Farnsworth.

The unit has been quietly increasing its strength and equipment during the past year to the point where it is now capable of manning some of the sites at a few hours' notice.

Filling in the remaining sites in the event of an emergency would be 119 and 129 Batteries from Gordon Head.

There are nearly enough 3.7 heavy anti-aircraft guns in the city at present to put a complete troop of four guns in each location.

And the men who man these guns are good, as they showed during a visit to the anti-aircraft firing site at Albert Head, where the 75th Regiment is now completing an intensive two-week summer training program.

UNIT GROWS

The unit has increased from a handful of men to a roll call of about 200. They are mostly specialists who are capable of training others if the need should suddenly arise.

The dull roar of exploding shells, heard in Victoria almost daily, changed to a sharp crack near the site.

A lazy pattern of exploding shells laced the sky around the aircraft-towed target. One burst was a direct hit and the canvas target started its 5,000-foot drop to the sea.

KEEP FIRING

A wild shout went up from the lucky gun crew, but it didn't stop firing. Gun layers continued to follow the target in their sights as the race continued to see which gun crew would score another "kill" before the target hit the water.

"These are mostly new men, but they're good," Col. Farnsworth said as he watched the perspiring men loading shells into the guns.

He praised instructors Capt. George Dunlap, Sgt. Major Chester Higgins, Capt. George McIntosh, Major W. R. Orchard and Staff Sgt. D. F. Thomas for the efficiency shown in the unit.

Officers on the guns say the shells have a range of 25,000 yards, which at times takes them more than half way to Port Angeles.

WATCH SHIPS

Shipping in the danger area is carefully watched during each shoot by a safety officer. He stands behind the guns with a red flag which is lowered when ships are in the vicinity.

Friday night a smoker will be held for all ranks at the camp to wind up the summer session. Besides motion pictures there will be a presentation of prizes for the men who obtained the highest training standards.

"We will not be swayed."

Reds Assert Talks Still Can Continue

Broadcast Shows Insults on Ridgway

TOKYO, Aug. 30 (Thursday) (INS)—Peiping radio said today the Korea armistice conference has not collapsed and then proceeded to thunder against Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's refusal to re-investigate their charge of bombing of Kaesong by a U.N. plane.

The special Communist broadcast for which Peiping alerted its listeners several hours in advance insisted the Communists did not refuse to permit a daylight investigation of the bombing evidence last Thursday.

It called Gen. Ridgway's rejection of the Red demand to re-examine the "bombed" scene an "absolutely groundless slander, malicious in character."

Earlier Red broadcasts accused Gen. Ridgway of lying and likened him to a criminal "afraid to face his trial."

RESOLUTION NEEDED

An Allied broadcast retorted that "resolution of mind as well as strength of arms" are necessary in dealing with "such people." It said the U.N. command possesses both of these.

None of the Allied-Communist broadcasts in the swirling war of words were official statements by either Gen. Ridgway or Generals Kim Il Sung and Peng Teh-Huai, the top Red commanders in Korea.

Nevertheless, they clearly reflected the attitude of both sides.

The Communists failed to indicate in any broadcast whether they intend to accept Gen. Ridgway's offer to renew cease-fire talks—but this time with no strings attached.

Peiping's initial broadcast today lashed out with heavy sarcasm against Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander in Korea, saying:

EVIL GLEE

"The armistice talks have not so far collapsed, but this American war chieftain rubs his palms together and shouts in evil glee: 'The United Nations forces in Korea are ready to resume all-out warfare on an intensified scale if the true talks collapse.'

"During the time he was with the provincial government he gave an outstanding service."

"On behalf of my colleagues and myself, I wish to express our deep sorrow and would like to extend sincere sympathy to the bereaved family and his wide circle of friends."

Czechs Intend To Keep Oatis

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (INS)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson threatened today to sever all U.S.-Czechoslovakian trade unless American newsmen William N. Oatis is freed, but the Czech ambassador declared that "neither economic pressure nor propaganda" will bring about the release.

Acheson, who summoned the Czech envoy, Vladimir Prochazka, to the department to discuss the Oatis case refrained from shaking hands and bluntly informed him that unless Oatis is promptly released "tensions will only continue to mount" between the two countries.

But Prochazka told newsmen:

"Our position is that Mr. Oatis was tried by the court of jurisdiction, not for being a representative of the press. The case is closed."

"We will not be swayed."

Death Mourned

DR. W. A. CARROTHERS

Dr. W. A. Carrothers Dies on Way to Hospital

By J. K. NESBITT

Dr. W. A. Carrothers, 62, one-time university professor and for 12 years head of B.C.'s controversial Public Utilities Commission, died in a C. & C. ambulance Wednesday between his Parkcrest Apartment, where he was stricken with a heart attack, and St. Joseph's Hospital.

He had been in poor health for many months.

BORN IN IRELAND

Dr. Carrothers was born in Ireland in 1889 and took early higher education at Methodist College.

Premier Byron Johnson, informed of the death of Dr. W. A. Carrothers, said: "I am sorry to hear of his death at such an early age."

"During the time he was with the provincial government he gave an outstanding service."

"On behalf of my colleagues and myself, I wish to express our deep sorrow and would like to extend sincere sympathy to the bereaved family and his wide circle of friends."

Boys Condition Said Critical

Belfast. He graduated with his B.A. from University of Manitoba in 1916 and won his Ph. D. in economics from University of Edinburgh in 1921. London School of Economics gave him post-graduate work and for a year he lectured on political economy at Edinburgh.

Returning to Canada, he was professor of economics at University of Saskatchewan from 1921 to 1930 and at U.B.C. from 1930 to 1934.

SASKATOON ALDERMAN

T. D. Pattullo, as Liberal leader, tried in 1933 to get Dr. Carrothers to run for the legislature. He refused. His only dabble in politics had been for one year as a Saskatoon alderman.

Mr. Pattullo, as premier, persuaded him in 1934 to become chairman of the economic council to advise cabinet ministers on problems of the depression.

He was generally thought to have been the advisor to Mr. Pattullo on the dictatorial Special Powers Act which the legislature passed, after many storms, but which was never used.

Police said the car was being driven east on Bay by Robert L. King, 3365 Cedar Hill Road.

The boy was taken to hospital by the city police ambulance.

Worthington Blasts Lethargy

Get Moving or Give Up, Says Civil Defense Head

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 (CP)—Major-General F. F. Worthington told Canada today to get ready behind a strong civil defense program or else scrap the idea.

The 61-year-old white-haired major-general, still driving himself hard even after two world wars, indicated to a press conference that he is meeting opposition and lethargy in making Canada civil defense-minded.

The former champion of tanks in modern warfare, now federal civil defense co-ordinator, made his feelings known in a press conference called to introduce the civil defense director general for Sweden, Aksel Sundelin, and his assistant, Ivar Müller.

They said that Sweden, with half the population of Canada, is about 15 years ahead of Canada in civil defense work.

A reporter asked Gen. Worthington what he considered the root of the Canadian trouble.

Police said today the technique used in blasting power line poles at three different points in southern interior British Columbia this week was similar to that used by radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors in the past.

Blasts Linked With Radicals

Most British Columbia school study ate liberal quantities of wisely they could provide their drinks, candy, rich cakes and pastries, jam and expensive forms of common foods such as ready-cooked cereals, vegetables and meat.

A greater proportion of family income should be allowed for milk, uncooked cereals, meat alternates such as cheese, fish, eggs, beans and peanut butter, thus providing more foods particularly needed.

THREE-DAY STUDY

The department report covered school children in the Kootenays, Fraser Valley, northern B.C., Vancouver and Vancouver Island, for a three-day period. Majority of study was of Grade V to VIII.

In all areas where studies have been made, public health nurses and teachers are co-operating to improve food habits, the department said.

A similar food survey was recently finished in a Saanich district in which low consumption of virtually the same foods was noted.

At that time parents of students used in the survey protested against the results and claimed they were not consulted in the work as it affected home diets.

Plane Search Unsuccessful

WINNIPEG, Aug. 29 (CP)—Four United States Air Force planes and an R.C.A.F. aircraft in a search today failed to find any trace of two Wisconsin fishermen missing since Aug. 2 in northern Saskatchewan. The two men, Dr. John A. Tawche of Sheboygan and Miles Eichenberger of Plymouth, disappeared on a plane flight from Lac La Ronge.

They erected an earth bank across the siding and some were reported lying on the tracks to

ALLABOARD

"How many of you folk have come out here tonight for a blessing? Raise your hands."

The Rev. A. C. Valdez, Senior, flung both arms in the air. Scores of arms signaled back to him. Above the hum and rustle of the thousands on close-packed benches, voices cried

We sat under the huge canvas which might be called "God's Big Top," at the corner of Pembridge and Quadra, where the Valdez party is conducting a healing mission every day for a fortnight, ending next Sunday.

The elder Valdez was (to use a heathen phrase) "warming up" the audience for his son, Rev. A. C. Valdez, Junior, who claims that God visited him in a dream and bestowed upon him the gift of divine healing.

Sawdust lay thick on the floor, and its clean smell filled the nostrils. Around the ministers, the girl organist and the other people on the platform were clusters of flowers.

"A revival is going to sweep this Island," Mr. Valdez, Senior, boomed into the microphone. "It's going to be the old-time, down-south Arkansas Pentecostal shouting kind of revival." Several people said "Amen" and "Yes, Lord."

"How many of you folks have enjoyed these flowers? Raise your hands. Hallelujah! They certainly help me to praise God. There's nothing pretentious about flowers. They're just exactly the way God made them, and that's why they're so beautiful.

"I love you folks here in Victoria because you love flowers so much. Every back yard is covered with flowers, praise the Lord. It speaks of the resurrected Christ."

He exhorted the people to be "saved."

"It's not something you get in your head. You get it right across from your fifth rib, just by your collar bone. It will grow in the good soil of your heart.

"Everybody that's glad to be here, raise your hands. Everybody who's saved, raise your hands. Everybody who's on the road to Heaven, raise your hands. Now turn around and shake hands with seven people."

A number of people of all shapes, sizes and ages were marshaled in single file to step up to the microphone and testify how they had been healed.

"Thank you, Jesus," said a grey-haired man. "You healed my hearing. You saved my wife, too." His voice had a sooth in it.

"Arthritis and sinus, praise the Lord," said a red-haired girl. "You healed a rupture I had for 35 years," said an old man. "Thank Jesus my goitre is getting smaller and smaller," said a lean woman in red.

The younger Valdez stepped forward. "I can feel the healing power leaping from the ends of my fingers just like sparks of electricity," he said. "Friends, when Jesus Christ gave me this gift he said this healing power shall come forth from your right hand."

"You will actually feel the current of healing power surging into your body, and when you feel it, say 'thank you, Jesus,' for God has started the work right then and there. Remember, it's God who does the work, it isn't Valdez. If you're cured of any disease right away, it's a miracle. If you're cured gradually, it's healing."

"How many of you here tonight are deaf in one or both ears? All right, I want you to come quickly please and start on this side. If you are deaf, please get into this line now. How many are blind? I want you to get into this line now . . . Form a simple line . . ."

The first one to reach the platform was a grey-haired lady who said she had been deaf in the right ear for five years. "Dear Jesus, please open this sister's ear," Mr. Valdez prayed. He put his hands to the side of her head. "You deaf spirit, in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, I command you to go." He shuddered and started backword slightly, as though a live thing were slipping out of him: "There it is."

"Say 'thank you, Jesus.' Put your hand on the other ear. Can you hear that watch ticking?"

"Yes."

"Praise the Lord." An old man came hobbling up on a cane. "I want you to take this cane and put it over your shoulder, and don't ever use it again," he said. The old man did what he was told and walked away, beaming.

"Thou goitre demon, I bind thee hand and foot and I cast you into the pit of hell. Swallow, in the name of Jesus. Is that real? Hallelujah! You're healed, sister, you can go home. Don't worry about anything any more."

"Dear Jesus, touch this little boy in the eye. Open up this little boy's blind eye. Cover up his other eye. What have I got in my hand?"

"A book," said the three-year-old in faltering voice.

"We're going to have to go a little faster," Mr. Valdez said. He laid hands on each "patient," said a few words and hurried them gently along. But when he came to a 15-year-old girl who, it was said, had been deaf and dumb all her life, he took more trouble. He made signs, and she nodded. He exhorted the deaf and dumb "spirit" to leave. Then he told the girl to say "Mother."

"Mother," she said in an odd, childish monotone, like a voice from a cave. "I want you to help her learn," Mr. Valdez said. "She's never heard a word before. The English language will be like the Chinese language to her."

He went up to an old lady in a wheel chair. "Glory to God, step right out," he said. "Hallelujah!" The old lady took several slow steps toward him, then walked to the platform and back.

The tent is highly charged with emotion, and belief seems easy. But how do these cures stand up in cold daylight? I called on a few people to see.

Mrs. W. Auckland, 329 Vancouver Street, said she had been cured of stiff, rheumatic knees and added that a ruptured diaphragm which had given her intense pain for 12 years was healing and didn't hurt any more. "Haven't been able to kneel and say my prayers for I don't know how long," she said. "Now look at me," she kicked her heels.

Mrs. Ezra Hever, 314 Brightmore, said she could now hear through an ear from which the drum was removed when she was seven years old. "I don't remember ever hearing with that ear. This morning I answered the telephone with it. No, I haven't seen a doctor since, and I don't think I want to. You've got to keep on believing."

"No results," said Mrs. G. Brillinger, 635 Grenville Street, blind in one eye for 38 years. "But I don't say something might not happen some time. I wouldn't say a word against him. He's doing wonderful work."

Soap-Box Race Entries Need Only Wheels, Body

Twenty-eight entries have now been received for the Labor Day soap-box race on Yates Street.

Three judges have been confirmed: Ald. Frank Mulliner; Deputy Police Chief Harry Mercer, and Esquimalt Reeve A. L. Thomas.

Robert Abbott, chairman of the race committee, said last night that 50 entries are hoped for.

Five have been sent in from Alberni and a number are expected from Nanaimo.

Record year was 1948 when 97 youngsters competed.

Mr. Abbott stressed the fact that any youngster, regardless of what type of car he has, is eligible for the "B" class events.

"They're all eligible as long as they have four wheels and a body," said Mr. Abbott.

Writer Says Propaganda Truce Talks' Chief Aim

TRENTON, Ont., Aug. 29 (CP)—A war correspondent home from Korea said today that both sides in the Kaesong cease-fire talks seem more concerned with making propaganda points than in reaching an agreement.

Back on leave after almost nine months as Canadian Press correspondent with the Canadian forces, Bill Boss said:

"This is a waste of time for both. We will never be able to affect the picture the Communists will give their own people as well as the world.

might as well accept it. The Communists should accept the fact that they are dealing at last with an implacable front."

"The pity is that we seem to have stooped to trying to play their game."

"On the other hand, I do not agree that if the talks break down the resulting fighting will ring up the curtain on a third world war, in the sense of open hostilities on a global scale."

"The real battle—for men's souls—is already on. In a sense we have already lost it to the Communists in Korea—by default—despite our victories on the field."

The lanky reporter, who has seen war at first hand in the Second World War and in Korea since he went there last December with the Princess Patricias, said the only thing the United Nations had accomplished in the peninsula was the destruction of Korea "on a massive scale" and its denial to the Communists as a base. The south "certainly is anti-Communist, for the moment, but it is equally anti-U.N., a tragedy worked by the conduct and attitude of the Western troops," he said.

The United Nations had failed to understand the Koreans' hatred of the Japanese, who had kept them in subjugation for two generations. The Koreans feared that the forthcoming Japanese peace treaty would reopen the way for their return to Korea in a new guise but for the same purpose—the exploitation and perhaps domination again of their country.

"Last Saturday in Tokyo I found support for this in the

Says Defense Not Supported

OSAKA, Japan, Aug. 29 (INS)—Gov. Earl Warren of California, with the dust of atom-bombed Hiroshima still on his shoes, tonight accused the Truman administration of utter failure to support America's civil defense, and with delaying war production by not telling the public the truth.

"I am a little sensitive on this point . . . trying to prepare for civilian defense," said Warren. "Although every state has been urged to do so, to relieve distress—including atomic attacks—there hasn't yet been any appropriation (by Congress) to aid civil defense."

"It's very difficult to tell the people to prepare for their own defense and yet have their government decline to help."

Shorten Visit In Edmonton

EDMONTON, Aug. 29 (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will cut short their Edmonton visit by 10 hours, the royal visit committee was advised today by Ottawa.

They will leave by train about midnight, Oct. 20 instead of by plane at 10 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 21 to attend a special Anglican church service in Saskatoon that morning.

Oddities

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 29 (AP)—Unusual noises in their television set puzzled Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Seiple.

For one thing the set wasn't on. For another, parts of the set were in a repair shop.

Hurrying to investigate, the Seiples found their pet cat had crawled into the set to have a new family of kittens.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 29 (AP)—Big, bold bears are invading the downtown area of this community.

The 900 inhabitants like bears, but only as tourist attractions. They object to bears acting like Peeping Toms and scavengers.

One householder found a giant bear peering inquisitively through the back window of his home. The bear took off before the indignant citizen could get a gun.

At the city dump three teenagers came across five bears. They bagged a 250-pounder by pumping six bullets into the animal. The other bears fled.

Reds Ready For Delays In Parley

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29 (CP)—

The Japanese peace treaty conference is scheduled here five days next week but the Russian delegation is looking far beyond that.

Kenneth L. Ball, a music teacher, reported today emissaries tried to rent his 17-room mansion for the Soviet delegation "for a month. Then they talked about six weeks."

But Ball didn't close a deal.

The Russians then rented half the 10th floor of the St. Francis

Hotel—24 rooms and two suites at $400 a day.

The Russians' "month or six week" bid threw a scare into the San Francisco Opera Company. It rehearses and performs in the opera house, site of the treaty conference.

The conference is scheduled to end Sept. 8 and the opera company to move in two days later.

European Army Plans May Take Shape Soon

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By PRESTON GROVER
(For J. M. ROBERTS, JR.)

PARIS, Aug. 29 (AP)—So much progress has been made on shaping the new European army that informed observers here think that definite plans may be laid before the North Atlantic Pact ministers meeting in Ottawa Sept. 15.

Some of the speediest progress has been made since it became evident that Jules Moch would not be defense minister in the present French cabinet. He was a major stickler for keeping German forces small. French, American and German generals thought the biggest unit he would allow, about 6,000 men, was just too small for use in a war.

Moch went out when the Socialists refused to take part in the present government. Rene Pleven, author of the European army plan, became prime minister and put George Bidault in as defense minister.

The military men have been having a field day of progress toward a unified European fighting force ever since.

The knot in the tangle has been that the Germans wouldn't come into the proposal to form a European army unless they were treated as equals. They insisted that 6,000-man combat teams would be a joke in battle. The French wouldn't agree to anything bigger because they were genuinely distrustful of an organized German army.

Nor would they agree to let the Germans create an inde-

Prisoner Passes Bad Check

VANCOUVER, Aug. 29 (CP)—A prisoner in Oakalla, facing several counts of forgery, wrote and cashed a phony check for $500 in prison.

He said he needed the money to pay his lawyer, and an obliging taxman endorsed and cashed it for him at a western bank.

The driver claims a prison official who let the prisoner write the check was supposed to notify the bank. But the bank manager blames the driver for not telling the bank that the author was in jail.

Pending disposition, the money remains in the prisoner's account at the jail.

First Motorman To Run Last Trip

EDMONTON, Aug. 29 (CP)—The motorman on Edmonton's first street car in 1908—Henry Miller—will make the last run across the city when street cars bow out of service Saturday.

Mr. Miller and other old-timers will ride the last streetcar route in car No. 1, the one he started with in 1908. Buses will take over on the city's last remaining street car.

Representing London's Millions

THE ARRIVAL in Victoria today of Sir Denys Lawson, Lord Mayor of London, and Lady Patricia Lawson, to be guests during a brief stay at Government House, gives this community an opportunity to express the admiration it felt for London's great population during the "blitz" in 1940. The stout and sturdy resistance of the heart of the British Commonwealth during the worst of the fire-raids and the nightly visitation of the blockbusters and V2's set an example of fortitude that has seldom, if ever, been equalled on the part of a civilian population anywhere within the empire.

Happily in more pleasant days, the great metropolis has put the worst of those memories behind even while the reconstruction of the stately and ancient city is going on. The current Festival of Britain is but one evidence of the resilience of a great people, who seem to show up best when the going is hard and when storm clouds gather. Scores of Canadians who have visited the Old Country in recent months have come back with the same single impression, that of a land plagued by every manner of unearned misfortune but sturdy and resolute still.

It will be the wish of everyone in the Greater Victoria area that the Lord Mayor of London and his good lady will enjoy their stay here, brief as that may be, and that on his return to his office Sir Denys will find the occasion to convey the sincere and affectionate greetings of Vancouver Island communities to those who had such an unforgettable part in the Battle of Britain. Many a Canadian in uniform has brought home part of that heroic story, but this is the first time in a long while that an official representative of the City of London has stood in our midst. The years do not dim a record such as that, of courage, endurance and faith in the face of overwhelming odds.

Sharp Lesson for Mr. Abbott

COMMODITY prices can be raised only so high or goods taxed only so far before consumers begin to take matters into their own hands. There have been examples of this locally in the case of meat, to the point where some retailers have been driven out of business. Now Canadian cigarette smokers have given an even more striking illustration of buyer resistance, in this case to excessive taxation. By their reaction to the increased tax imposed on cigarettes last spring they have read Finance Minister Abbott a salutary lesson in the working of the law of diminishing returns.

The immediate result of that tax boost in May and June was a decrease of 13 per cent in sales of cigarettes throughout Canada by comparison with those of the corresponding months last year. On the basis of total sales this works out at a loss of revenue to the treasury of $87,000 a month, or about $1,000,000 a year. Thus have smokers confirmed the fears and warnings expressed by manufacturers and tobacconists when Mr.

Abbott announced the 3 cent excise tax boost.

In raising the tax it had been the government's intention to discourage luxury spending that would have been a different matter; but this apparently was not the case. Mr. Abbott must have assumed that Canadians would go on smoking as much as ever, because in presenting his budget he buoyantly estimated that the extra 3 cents a package would yield the treasury an additional $21,000,000 during the balance of this year and $26,000,000 in a full year. In doing so he neglected to take the human element into account.

There are adages about last straws, and pitchers at the well. They may be hackneyed, but cigarette smokers have proved them to be still pertinent, and Mr. Abbott and his economists should note that. Unfortunately in an instance such as this the treasury is not the only one to suffer. Manufacturers and retailers, in loss of business, have to pay for the government's blundering.

Severe Loss to B.C.

THE PUBLIC service in British Columbia sustained another serious setback with the sudden passing yesterday of Dr. W. A. Carrothers, head of the Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board and chairman of the Public Utilities Commission. Coming so soon after the death of Mr. W. F. Kennedy, former liquor commissioner, the news came as a shock to those in provincial government circles and to a host of friends. Although he held two difficult and unpopular positions under the Crown in the province, Dr. Carrothers was held in the highest regard personally for his sterling qualities of character. A noted political economist, his place will not be easily filled.

Born in Northern Ireland, Dr. Carrothers came to this country as a young man and was educated in Manitoba. He won the D.F.C. and the Belgian Croix de Guerre as a Canadian pilot with the Royal Flying Corps in the First World War, and returned to a brilliant scholastic career in Canada. Professor of Economics at Saskatchewan and British Columbia Universities between 1921 and 1934, in the latter year he was made chairman of the B.C. Economic Council at the beginning of his long association with the provincial civil service. He prepared this province's case before the Royal Commission, which has long been held as a model of its kind.

For the last 10 years Dr. Carrothers was chief administrator of the government's monopoly-control legislation as the head of the fuel and utilities boards, the most contentious and difficult responsibility in the provincial service. It speaks volumes for his worth and integrity that not even these perplexities outweighed his personal popularity and the esteem in which he was so widely held.

CLEAN BEACHES

Sir.—With reference to Mr. R. J. Carter's offer to clear the logs etc. off the beaches, from Foul Bay to the Breakwater, quite an undertaking. Apparently it would not cost the city anything and Mr. Carter is to be recommended for his public spirit as a citizen for his offer.

One would have thought that the public works department and the city engineer would have, to say the least, made a compromise and met Mr. Carter more than half way. For the engineers to state that the public would not like operation on the beaches in the summer time, while they are being used, and that the city would not benefit, is shortsightedness. He could only be in one place at a time. As far as any logs under six inches being left, these could be piled up in stacks here and there and burned during the winter. For the past 26 years as I know, our beaches have remained in their present state and still we have garbage being dumped at Clover Point.

I suggest the city give a hand and assist Mr. Carter in his efforts to clean up the beaches and keep them clean.

ED TOWNSEND,

231 Balmoral Road, Victoria, B.C.

OLD-AGE PENSIONS

Sir.—No one can deny the principle of an old-age pension for everyone over 70 is an excellent one. It is indeed well in keeping with modern ideas of the welfare state and undoubtedly a very long step on the road to Socialism. And where Socialism ends and Communism, pure and simple, begins is a most difficult question to answer.

But one is amazed at the federal government's inept handling of this vital question. A few months ago inspired paragraphs appeared in the newspapers to say that the government had a scheme for pensions for every citizen over 70 without any means test whatever. Very lavish and open-handed, and why not? For it is the taxpayer who will pay the piper without having had the least choice in calling the tune. Rich men are flocking to apply for these pensions, rich men who have never paid a penny towards the cost of them. But from now on the working man is to have another payroll deduction to give the wealthy man or woman another $40 a month. Is this fair or equitable, is it democratic? Certainly the federal government promise us another sales tax to make the self-employed man pay too. What sort of a sales tax is it that the working man will not pay as well? Further, everybody knows quite well that the business man, the doctor, the lawyer, the shoemaker, the butcher and the baker will quite assuredly pass on the sales tax in increased prices, fees or hourly rates.

Government spokesmen are never tired of telling us of the evils of inflation, but the governments, federal and provincial, spend money like water on all sorts of unnecessary and outlandish schemes which are always vastly more expensive than their sponsors at first suggest.

A boy or girl starting work now will pay, by payroll deductions, for 50 years before they get an old-age pension, it is probably they will pay some new sales tax as well during this 50 years. Why does not the government place the plan in full before the people, clearly telling them the cost and let us have a referendum, on it?

JOHN KENNY.

R.R. 1, Royal Oak, V.I., B.C.

UNIVERSAL BROTHERHOOD

Sir.—We are often reminded that the whole world is in confusion today, and should the threatened third world war develop the result may well be "confusion worse confounded." One example of this confusion is the constant bickering and strife which characterize industrial life, in which capital, labor and consumer are continually engaged. Believing in the universal Fatherhood of God and the universal brotherhood of man, I believe there is one and only one solution for this and all other current problems that concern us. That is the application of the principles which Jesus proclaimed, which He exemplified in His life, and for which He died. The churches have the solution for the task and the near approach of Labor Day gives the opportunity. I trust that every pastor in Victoria may take occasion to proclaim the attitude of his church on this vital problem, and that capital, labor and consumer may be assured of a cordial welcome in every church in the city.

While Visiting in Britain

SELF-IMPORTANCE gives a certain set to the mouth in both men and women, by the time they are mid-thirty. Of all our features, we must be most watchful of our mouths.

Our eyes are under almost constant conscious control. We can make them hard or soft, bland or cunning, to suit our needs of the sure takes on a build and style that cannot be controlled. Years of unconscious habit turn it into a revelation of what the inner character is. It is always with astonishment that we notice our mouths in candid-camera shots and unstudied snaps. It doesn't look like the mouth we see in our mirrors at all.

Knowing this, many of the Oriental races require that their womenfolk cover the lower half of their faces, allowing the eyes free rein. The result is that, with the tell-tale mouth hidden, the eyes have the vacant and expressionless quality of squirrel's eyes. It is an interesting reflection that in the early stages of the growth and construction of the Greek and Roman empires, the men wore beards, as the statuary shows. But in the height and decline of those empires, the men were shaved. In the Victorian Age, which was the peak of the expansion of the British Empire, beards were universal. Then we shaved. And look at us.

A big executive once told me that he will never do important business with a man who has a cigar in his mouth. A cigar distorts and to some extent conceals the mouth.

If we have the type of mouth that is a snitch and a tattle-tale, we should do our business over the telephone. That is easier than growing a beard.

Fireworks

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Visitors this summer to the Katmai National Monument in Southern Alaska are seeing a spectacular show of volcanic fireworks. In the United States reserve at the base of the long, slim Alaska Peninsula, Mount Mageik is reported to have erupted suddenly, darkening the skies and raining ashes down on areas 75 miles away.

It was a volcanic outburst, one of the greatest ever recorded anywhere, that led to the discovery of Alaska's volcanic wonderland, says the National Geographic Society. In June, 1912, when it was learned in Washington that Mount Katmai had blown its top in a terrific explosion, the society sent its first scientific and exploratory expedition to the neighborhood.

Out of the findings of this and six later expeditions, the last in 1930, came detailed knowledge of one of the world's most fantastic regions—a land of strange forms and colors, fire and ice.

In the midst of placid lakes and forests, broad glaciers and cloud-shrouded mountains, a great valley was found, the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes. Hot gases and vapors rose from thousands of vents and miniature volcanoes, painting scenes recalling Dante's Inferno.

Without its top nearby Mount Katmai was left a mere stump, enclosing a huge crater some eight miles in circumference in which nested a mile-long milky-blue lake.

Mount Mageik has a record of activity in 1927, 1929, 1936 and 1946. The last two outbursts rated as major eruptions. Not far away the old master, Mount Katmai, has been relatively quiet since its 1912 explosion, which was heard 750 miles away and showered dust on areas 500 miles distant.

Appalling Ignorance

(From The Financial Post)

NOT long ago a New York newspaper put a series of simple geography questions before a large group of American college students. The results were appalling.

The great majority of these supposedly educated people hadn't the faintest idea of the name of Canada's capital or the location or approximate size of the chief cities of the United States. Canadians, however, needn't be too complacent.

Just the other day a summer school group at an Ontario university turned in a similar performance. These people were asked to give the approximate populations of the United States and Russia, the two major powers in the world.

Such action would not, of course, world today. Most of the answers put the U.S. far higher than the U.S.S.R., whereas, of course, the reverse is true. Furthermore, guesses in both cases ranged up to something like four times the total population of the world.

Now it is very important that we should know about the last million the precise populations of any country, but in this critical period we should certainly have a rough idea of the size of the main powers and we should know how these compare. If we are ignorant of such fundamental facts then a whole lot of world news is going to be meaningless. We will not know how important it is to have allies in this cold war or what they are really worth.

While all things else have rest from weariness?

All things have rest: why should we toil alone,

We only toil, who are the first of things,

And make perpetual moan,

Still from some sorrow to another thrown:

It costs us to be always on the move,

And cease from wandering,

And sleep our brows in slumber's holy balm;

Nor harken what the inner spirit sings,

"There is no joy but calm!"

Why should we toil, the roof and crown of things? ...

An immigration department official in Ottawa said yesterday that consideration is being given to applications from 12 Polish sailors for admission to Canada.

However, no decision has been reached, the official said.

A dispatch from Stockholm, Sweden, the night before, had quoted the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet as saying that 12 Polish sailors have been given asylum as political refugees.

The sailors, who had mutinied, brought their ship, a Polish Communist minesweeper, into a Swedish port two weeks ago.

Colonial Staff Reporter

MONTREAL, Aug. 29—Production of hydro-electric power at Kemanano and aluminum at Kitimat may be eventually increased beyond present estimates if plans now being considered by the Aluminum Co. of Canada are approved and carried out.

McNeely DeBose, vice-president of Alcan, announced here this morning that British Columbia's comptroller of water rights, E. H. Tredcroft, had just wired approval of a plan to cut a canal from Eutsuk Lake in Tweedsmuir Park down to the lower level of Tahsita Lake from which water will be funneled to drive the power plant at Kemanano on the coast side of the mountains.

With aluminum production not due to start at Kitimat until 1954, present plans call for completion of the earliest phase of the Nechako River dam project late next year.

After that three years would be required to build up storage to take full advantage of the dam.

Mr. DeBose said 100 billion cubic feet of water could be delivered through the canal for full first-phase storage in nine months less time than it would take for the same volume to

Baker Convinced His Bread Caused Outbreak of Rare, Madding Illness

PONT-SAINT-ESPRIT, France, Aug. 29 (AP)—A baker in this tiny Rhone River port told investigators today he felt that one of his sacks of flour was responsible for "the bread that kills and makes men mad."

Four persons have died and 27 are still in hospital—many with mental disturbances—from a weird sickness attributed to bread sickness here Aug. 17.

"I noticed the flour didn't seem good," said the baker, M. Brland.

"He came by the next day to reproach me for it and I sold him several sticks of bread made from that particular flour. A little while afterward, he died."

Investigators leaned toward a theory they were up against "fervent fever" or "St. Anthony's fire," an illness caused by a cerebral fungus known as ergot.

Some of the symptoms are nausea and chills, but the outstanding characteristic is hallucinations of fire and impending violence.

A witness at the hospital, where at one time 40 persons were under treatment, said one of the patients threw himself out a window, shrieking:

"I can't stand it any longer. A red snake is eating my brain."

A wave of food poisoning cases in other areas has come to light in connection with the investigation.

Full Work In Woods Days Away

Full employment in the lumber industry of Vancouver Forest district is still some days off, the B.C. Forest Service reported yesterday.

A spokesman said 31 fires were burning in the forest area, including six new ones.

A moderate hazard existed for operations below Nanaimo, but above that point the hazard is high, he said.

A dangerous fire last night was sweeping through timber stands in the Alberni area. It was the most dangerous of four fires on Vancouver Island. It has been burning for more than 24 hours.

Fires at the Elk River Timber Company operations near Campbell River are keeping 200 company men on patrol. The fires were fanned into life by winds in the same area previously ravaged by flames this summer.

The Lake Cowichan blaze was reported fairly quiet, with 45 men on guard. East Sooke fire was being mopped up by eight patrols.

Outside of Vancouver Island, five families were evacuated yesterday from the path of a blaze which has already spread over 20 square miles of timber on Jervis Inlet. Evacuation was a precautionary measure, the forest service added.

The fire, not under control, was described as a tough one in rugged terrain.

The fires have kept three-quarters of the forest district's 12,000 loggers on the unemployment lists. Special permits granted by forest rangers have been sufficient to allow work for 3,000 men, mostly in the Duncan, Parksville and Sooke areas.

One permit has been received by Victoria local of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) from an operator seeking to begin overtime shifts. Several requests were made to the Duncan local yesterday.

Overtime work is at discretion of the locals affected, as ruled by the union's district council.

Without overtime, operators fear that a log shortage, now severe, may not be eased before winter months again halt woods production.

The dancing has been sponsored by the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club.

A number of special awards were on the program, including a can-can event, won by Margaret de Boucherville, 14, and Linda McColl, 13; a waltz contest, won by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hamlet, and a spot dance award won by Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Gilbert.

Prizes were awarded by Arthur Songhurst, president of the club, and W. Young, head of the club's dancing committee.

More than 45,000,000 acres of land is under cultivation in Pakistan, of which more than two-thirds is irrigated.

Bus Lines, Police Gird For Holiday Week-End

Extra coaches and extra precautions are planned by transportation companies and city police handling holiday crowds on the Labor Day weekend.

Two extra buses will go on schedule for up-island points as far as Nanaimo, the first leaving Victoria at 6:45 p.m. and the second at 8:45 p.m., going only as far as Duncan.

No extra sailings of coast steamships will be necessary, according to C.P.R. traffic officials.

Hourly bus runs will help carry visitors to the Saanich Agricultural Fair at Saanichton on Monday, and extra sections will be prepared for transportation to Cordova Bay, where the annual regatta of the Vancouver Island Outboard Association will be held.

City police report that "a good crew" of policemen will be on duty. Motorists are warned that the annual soap box race will begin at 8 a.m. Monday on Yates Street hill.

Hotels are already hanging out men standing room only signs, and late-comers over the holiday will find little space available.

The long dry spell has given local hotels one of the best summers on record and if the weather holds over Labor Day it is expected that visitors will crowd all records.

The Native Sons of B.C. will leave Victoria at 8 a.m. Monday and begin the return trip from Nanaimo at 6:30 p.m. the same day.

Adhesive Tape Gets Big Play From Rocks

Victoria Shamrock trainers Deans Blackstock and Dusty Mair had busy time preparing battered players for third game of Inter-City Lacrosse League semifinals against North Shore at Memorial Arena last night. Scoring ace Archie Browning had no serious injury but he wore his share of tape. Here, Blackstock liberally applies tape to strengthen weak ankles of speedy forward.

Victoria Just Dot On Island

By RAY BAINES

Victoria has received another share-of-the-honor award as a result of the fame from a New York Times story headed "A Touch of England."

Concerning the usually noted virtues of our fair city, the noted English reporter, the author, Samuel Tower, nevertheless fails to appear in the city's size.

Victoria, however, is just a dot at the tip of Vancouver Island, with a population of 4,000. This bit of statistical misinformation, was no doubt gathered from a 1938 travel book.

Parliamentarian take note! Let's send the New York Times back and wide for its accordingly some new folders.

Otherwise, Mr. Tower pays the usual compliment.

"A strikingly different from most of the rest of the world," he says. Victoria is "a bit of England, an island transplanted to the Pacific Northwest."

He notes the visitors are likely to leave the streets of bagpipes and to see fewer barkeets about the street lamps.

"Almost every home has a carefully tended setting of flowers and the showpiece is the famous square Butchart Garden."

The weather, too, is perfect for sports all year round writes Mr. Tower, because of the tempered Pacific breezes and the mountain barrier that shelters the Island from the extremes of the continental climate.

Suspense High As Derby Nears Closing Hours

QUALICUM BEACH, Aug. 29.—Fascination is running high here in the final week of the salmon derby.

Mrs. J. S. Maguire, Vancouver, who won the prize last week with a 24 lb. four-ounce springer, is in the running for the derby title.

Second prize in the past week's fishing went to 12-year-old George Ware, with the 34 lb. six-ounce catch. George had flown from Scotland especially to take part in the derby here.

A special prize is being offered during the final week for the heaviest catch on a bucktail fly.

Grand derby day is Sunday with presentation of prizes at 1 p.m. at the Shady Rest boat house.

BRITANNIAS TO PRACTICE

Britannias soccer club will work out at 7 p.m. today at Beacon Hill Park. Any interested players are asked to attend.

Drought Can End Tuesday Morning, For All 12,000 School Pupils Care

On Tuesday morning at 9 a.m. it might just as well rain.

For nearly 12,000 young Victorians it has been a wonderful drought—no rain and no school—but the golden days of summer end when school bells ring.

Most pupils will wish they were attending Esquimalt High School this year, at least at the beginning of the term, to gain an extra week's holiday because of alterations to the school building.

In the 36 other schools in Greater Victoria the enrollment on Tuesday is expected to break chairman of fall fair committee, and Col. J. B. Carvass, president of Salt Spring Island Farmers' Institute.

By-Election Date May Be October 1

AROUND TOWN

Several Esquimalt constituency halls have been rented for Oct. 1 by the provincial government, it was reported yesterday.

The rental is foreseen as being for the day of the provincial by-election. Nomination day was set Sept. 22, but no definite election date has been announced by the government.

At present, 14,000 voters are eligible to cast ballots.

Five candidates have been named in contesting the by-election.

Plan Large Store

Hon. W. C. Woodward said here yesterday that plans for a new Victoria Woodward's store are still in the drawing-board stage. It may be three or four months before details will be released he said.

He indicated that a large store will be built on Pandora Avenue as soon as enough steel is available.

Defense Area Set

The Greater Victoria target area for civil defense has been officially defined by the provincial government announced yesterday.

The boundaries are roughly those points between of Cariboo Bay Road and Belcarra Road, of West Shore and Wickson roads, and of Prospect Lake and Manns Roads, Theta Lake, Langford Lake, Glen Lake and the southwestern end of Esquimalt Lagoon.

Boundary line at Langford Lake includes the Goldstream crossroads to Shell Road. The area includes Langford, Colwood and Linton, with the line from Glen Lake to Esquimalt Lagoon drawn along the Shook Road, Metchosin Road and Lagoon Road.

Two new school buildings will be ready to accept students. The addition to Strathcona Vale School and new Cadboro Bay School, both modern schools with large window areas, will open on schedule.

Elementary school pupils will sleep with snails' pace to report at 9 a.m. Grade VII, junior high will report at 11 a.m. Grade VIII at 10 a.m. Grade IX at 9 a.m. Grade X at 10 a.m. and Grades XI and XII at 11 a.m.

Many Lack Birth Certificate

Pension Applicants Seek to Prove Age With Wedding Ring, Family Bible

Would a telegram from the late William Lyon Mackenzie King congratulating a man on his 65th wedding anniversary be legal proof that he is over 70?

How about a gold wedding ring with the names and date of marriage inscribed in the inside?

These and a few other teases face officials of the National Health and Welfare Department's old-age security branch now receiving applications for the new $40-a-month federal pension.

W. R. Bone, regional director, said yesterday about 40 per cent of the 22,000 persons who have already applied for the pensions have been unable to submit birth certificates.

"It creates quite a problem," he said. "We have asked people to include proof of age with their application, or wait until they are asked for it."

One elderly man submitted a family Bible with statistics of birth for the whole family neatly inscribed on the fly leaf. Other examples are school diplomas, passports, military discharge certificates, baptism certificates and wedding certificates. One man submitted his master mariner's papers showing his age at the turn of the century.

While most of these may be quite legitimate records, Mr. Bone said, it takes a great deal of checking to establish their legality as proofs of age.

Official Welcomes For Lord Mayor

Official welcomes will be extended at Vancouver and Patricia Bay today to the Lord Mayor of London and his party.

The Lord Mayor, Sir Denis Lowson and Lady Lowson, will arrive at Vancouver from the United States and will be met by Premier and Mrs. B.C. Bennett, Mayor of Vancouver and Mrs. Fred Lyle of Vancouver.

Trans-Canada Airlines will bring the party to Patricia Bay, arriving about 10 p.m. when the welcome will be extended by Mayor and Mrs. Harry Cooper.

The Lord Mayor and Lady Mayor will be given a dinner at the Victoria Inn after which the party will travel to Nanaimo to continue their visit to the mainland by CPR train.

Pension Financing Session Problem

British Columbia's financial participation in the federal proposed pension scheme is being reconsidered in an unanswered proposal for only the specific legislation session starting November 1.

The government is requested to consider the cost of the proposed scheme in light of the present 20 million-dollar deficit.

The federal government has called one plenary session to propose that "solving the financial problem for $40 monthly payments to persons 70 years of age and over" will be paid by the government.

Perhaps the most ticklish debate will arise on the amount to be paid those between 65 and 69 years.

The federal government has agreed to pay 50 per cent of the pension up to $10 monthly. The province has not indicated whether it would stand firm or offer to give up paying the remainder of a $10 pension.

Wire Toll Boost Opposed By Ratepayers on Island

TRANSPORTATION costs received heavy subsidies at its inception for the purpose of providing telegraph service as well as rail transportation.

These subsidies, continued Mr. Bonner said, in the enormous weight represented in road and marine communications by the E. & N. Railways.

RECORD INCREASE

Not only should no increase apply to the Island, he said, but the increase of 15 per cent in July 1949 should be rescinded.

Any deficit in operating costs should be met from the heavy subsidy of land and mineral grants which continue to be exacted at the expense of all landowners on Vancouver Island.

Along with the message, Mr. Bonner forwarded a copy of the bill when he prepared for submission to the provincial cabinet on the question of continued operation and expansion of transportation and telegraph service by the E. & N. Railways.

City firemen were called yesterday afternoon to douse a fire in the laundry of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

According to officials of the fire department the blaze was caused by a mangle in the laundry.

The Vancouver Island Amateur Boxing Association will hold its annual meeting at Nanaimo Saturday.

Condition Good After Heart Attack

Condition of D. H. Hartness, Oak Bay High school principal who suffered a heart attack last weekend was reported good by Royal Jubilee Hospital officials yesterday.

These dogs are back to the dogs of Belgian Basenjis, and they can bark.

First Basenji were imported from the Belgian Congo in 1937. Three were brought over from England by Mrs. Sheila Anderson, 1968 Fairfield Road.

The short-haired animals are used by natives of the Congo to track down big game, elephants, gorillas and other wild beasts.

Although they can't bark like conventional dogs, Basenjis can walk and prance with the best of them. They make excellent pets and are considered top show dogs in the hound class.

The three are believed to be the only ones of their breed ever brought to Victoria.

The number of Basenjis on this continent is low but they are being raised in the United States now and Mrs. Anderson hopes to breed them here. Because they can have only one litter of pups a year, as opposed to two for most other types of dogs, the Basenjis do not multiply rapidly. Litters are generally between five to seven pups.

The sturdy little animals although expensive have one attribute that few other canines possess. There is no "doggy odor" about them.

Boil Water, Consumers Warned

LAKE COWICHAN Aug. 29

All water consumers served by the Lake Cowichan municipal water system are advised by the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit to boil all drinking water until further notice.

This warning was issued today after the regular Lake Cowichan water supply was cut off due to an extreme water shortage. A new supply had to be found immediately and the first samples of water tested showed that the bacteria count was not as constant as that of the regular water supply.

From there they will go to Prince George to attend the wedding of Miss Yvonne Kenney to Mr. C. Howe, son of Mrs. Howe and the late Bishop P. D. Howe.

Baby Christened

Stephen Lloyd were the names given the son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin E. Scott, 243, Vancouver Street, at a christening ceremony Sunday afternoon at Christ Church Cathedral. Dean G. R. Cawelt officiated at the ceremony. The baby and Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Roberts and Mr. E. Cawelt as godparents. For the occasion the young principal wore an heirloom robe first belonging to his maternal great-great grandmother and sent from Chequamegon Bay, Wisconsin. A reception for about 20 guests followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Scott.

Cool and Tempting Salad

There's lots of hot weather ahead, and when those days come nothing tastes as good as a chilly salad. We like a crushed pine apple and cucumber salad for its tangy pineapple flavor and cool appearance.

PINEAPPLE LAYER

1 cup crushed pineapple, 1 pkg. lemon flavored gelatin, 1/2 tea spoon salt, 1/2 cup finely grated carrots.

CUCUMBER LAYER

1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 1 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 cup light cream, 1/2 tea spoon salt, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1/2 cup finely grated celery, 1/2 cup diced cucumber, drained.

Pineapple Layer: Drain pine apple. Add enough water to syrup to make 1 1/2 cups liquid. Heat to boiling, dissolve gelatin in it. Chill until slightly thickened. Add salt, carrots and crushed pine apple. Turn into a 1 1/2-quart ring or fancy mold. Chill until firm.

Cucumber Layer: Soften gelatin in cold water, dissolve over hot water. Combine remaining ingredients. Add gelatin and blend. If desired, tint a pale green. Pour over pineapple layer. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with seed greens. Eight to 19 servings.

Ordinary Hamburger a Luxury When Prepared With Ceremony

That great institution, the hamburger, has more variations than can be counted on an abacus. With the price of meat what it is, even the hamburger has become a luxury, and it should, therefore, be treated with all due respect and ceremony.

Take, for example, these grilled hamburgers with onion rings. A dish fit for the gods, and easily suited to the masculine palate.

First cut thick slices of sweet Spanish onion; each slice should be a good 1/4 inch in thickness. Don't separate the rings. Secure them with toothpicks pushed in at the sides.

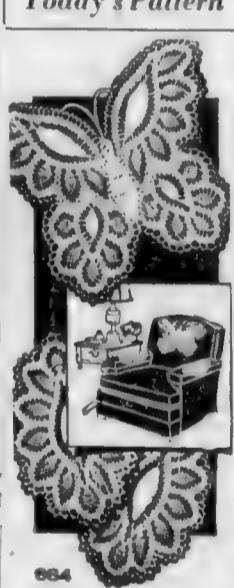

Put the slices in a greased baking pan, and pour over them 3 tablespoons of melted bacon drippings. Season well with salt and black pepper. Cover the pan and bake the onions in a moderate oven for about 25 minutes, until tender.

In another pan heat 2 tablespoons of butter and stir in 2 tablespoons of grated onion, a little minced parsley and 3/4 of a cup of bread crumbs. Season to taste with salt, pepper and a little mustard and work into 1 1/2 pounds of lean, ground raw beef. Mix well.

Beat 1 egg and combine it with the chopped meat mixture. Form it to flat cakes, wrapping each cake with a slice of bacon secured with a toothpick. Put a meat cake on each onion slice, in a baking pan, and brush with melted butter. Grill under broiler, about 6 inches from the flame, broiling about 4 minutes on each side. Baste often with drippings from the pan. Serve on a heated platter, with a sprig of watercress atop each meat cake.

These are delicious for an alfresco meal, accompanied by a tossed green salad, with wedges of chilled tomato dressed only with salt and a sprinkling of thyme or basil. And what could be better for dessert than a great chilled watermelon, steaming with cold, and so refreshing as a finale?
